Introduction

At Frankenmuth Medical Associates, we are committed to treating and using protected health information about you responsibly. This Notice of Health Information Practices describes the personal information we collect and how and when we use or disclose that information. It also describes your rights as they relate to your protected health information. This Notice applies to all protected health information as defined by federal regulations.

Understanding Your Health Record/Information

When you are a patient of Frankenmuth Medical Associates, a health information record is made for you. Typically, this record contains your health history, presenting problems, diagnoses, and treatment plan. This information serves as a:

- Basis for planning your care and treatment,
- Means of communication among the many health professionals who contribute to your care,
- Legal document describing the care you received,
- Means by which you or a third-party payer can verify that services billed were actually provided,
- A source of information for public health officials charged with improving the health of this state and the nation,
- A source of data for our planning and marketing,
- A tool with which we can assess and continually work to improve the care we render and the outcomes we achieve.

Understanding what is in your record and how your health information is used helps you to: ensure its accuracy; better understand who, what, when, where, and why others may access your health information; and make more informed decisions when authorizing disclosure to others.

Although your health record is the physical property of Saginaw Medical Associates, the information belongs to you. You have the right to:

For example: Frankenmuth Medical Associates is required to obtain your authorization before attempting any communications regarding treatment or health care operations for a third party in exchange for financial remuneration or to encourage the purchase or use of a product or services offered by a third party.
- Research requiring the use and disclosure of PHI
For example: When in the best interest of Frankenmuth Medical Associates and our patients, we may engage in research efforts. Before being involved in any research project patients and guardians must give voluntary, informed consent.

For example: Psychotherapy notes are notes recorded by a health care provider who is a mental health professional documenting or analyzing the contents of conversation during a private counseling session or a group, joint, or family counseling session and that are separated from the rest of the individual's medical record. As these are separate from your medical record specific authorization must be given for them to be disclosed.
- Disclosure of PHI to a third party outside of Frankenmuth Medical Associates

Examples of Disclosures Permitted for Treatment, Payment and Health Operations

- We will use your health information for treatment.
For example: Information obtained by a therapist, physician, or other member of your healthcare team will be recorded in your record and used to determine the course of treatment that should work best for you. Your treatment team will document in your record the expectations of the members of your team. Members of your team will then record the actions they took and their observations. In that way, the team will know how you are responding to treatment.
- We will use your health information for payment.
For example: A bill may be sent to your parent / guardian or a third-party payer. The information on or accompanying the bill may include information that identifies you, as well as your diagnosis, treatment, and services given.
- We will use your health information for regular health operations.

For example: Members of the clinical staff, the Vice President, Performance Improvement Systems, or members of the treatment team may use information in your health record to assess the care and outcomes in your case and others like it. This information may then be used in an effort to continually improve the quality and effectiveness of the healthcare and service we provide.

Examples include pharmacy services, certain laboratory tests, and specialized services, such as speech therapy. When these services are contracted, we may disclose your health information to our business associate so that they can perform the job we have asked them to do and bill for services rendered. To protect your health information, however, we require the business associate to appropriately safeguard your information.

Notification: We may use or disclose information to notify or assist in notifying an authorized family member, parent/guardian, or another person responsible for your care of any incident of which such notification is required, such as serious injury.

Food and Drug Administration (FDA): We may disclose to the FDA health information relative to adverse events with respect to food, supplements, product and product defects, or post-marketing surveillance information to enable product recalls, repairs, or replacement.
